

Restless Change

January 12, 2008

Modern politicians constantly praise change, because modern man is permanently unsatisfied with his war on a nature that does not change.